

Professional Services Engineer

www.correlix.com

Correlix is seeking talented technical people with great interpersonal skills to join their growing Professional Services Engineering team. In this role you will work with clients in the financial services sector on the full deployment cycle of an innovative Transaction Performance Management solution for their mission critical environments, which will include early evaluation implementations, as well as full deployment and support of the solution. Software Development background is required. Experience in the Transaction Performance Management space, or within the trading environment of the financial services sector is a plus. Solid technical skills, complemented by strong interpersonal skills, are critical for success.

Company Overview:

Correlix (<http://www.correlix.com>) is a fast growing hi-tech software company solving today's mission critical trading applications performance issues. Correlix is a leading innovator in transaction performance management domain whose patent pending technology platform discovers and presents trading execution or market data performance latency. Correlix's technology agnostic capabilities enables customers to gain a complete view of the transaction flow across multiple tiers of the data center without being hindered by technology specific protocols, applications, operating systems or even network devices.

Correlix's transaction performance management platform, CorrelixLI, enables financial services firms extract and improve performance from their existing systems, conduct accurate capacity planning and in real-time improve transaction throughput.

Correlix is a venture financed by Sequoia Capital, Genesis Partners, Blumberg Capital and Xenia Ventures with its R&D headquarters in Hertzilia Pituach - Israel, with US corporate offices in New York City.

Job Responsibility:

- The Professional Services Engineer will be primarily responsible for installation, set-up and support of the post-sales implementation processes of the pilots and fully blown installation at client sites. This includes system installation, configuration, and customer training on product applications and features.
- The successful candidate will demonstrate through prior experience their technical aptitude and the ability to effectively work with customers and stake-holders.
- The ability to effectively communicate with the sales organization, the client and the engineers back at corporate in order to work through any system

Position Requirements:

- Java or C programming skills is a plus
- 2-5 years of professional experience in development of trading applications or market data applications in a financial services firm is a plus
- Experience in customer facing on the technical level is required
- Solid written and verbal communication skills.
- Proven experience in a customer facing role or the desire to work in a challenging high pressure customer facing role.

- Ability and desire to learn a new and highly complex algorithmic product. This product is sophisticated and the problem domain it operates in is multi-dimensional (applications/network/algorithms).
- The position requires some travel

Work Location: NYC or London

Compensation: Competitive base salary plus bonus, depending on prior work experience.

Benefits: Provided.